(54) Title: COOKING APPLIANCE

(57) Abstract: Appliance for cooking food articles, which comprises a container for receiving an amount of the food articles to be cooked and an amount of cooking liquid sufficient to only partially immerse the food articles therein. The container (10) has a discharge end comprising an opening for discharging the cooked food articles and a cover (22) for closing the opening during the cooking operation. The appliance also comprises a helical paddle (26); a shaft (16) on which the paddle is mounted, such that shaft is rotatably supported by the container (10); a motor (63) for driving the shaft (16); means for causing the motor to drive the shaft in either the cooking direction or the discharging direction; and a support for supporting the container in a slightly slanted position wherein the front end of the shaft is slightly higher than the rear end thereof.
